Hi, my name is Andy and I live in Aldershot in Hampshire, I am a very keen walker and would love to find a local person to join me in country walks near my home. I am great nature lover and enjoy photography, especially butterflies as they make such a beautiful subject. My knowledge of the subject is rather sketchy so to find someone local to help me with species identification would be fantastic. 😊

Hi Andy - I suggest you tag along on the field trips that the Hampshire and Isle of Wight branch of Butterfly Conservation organise; you'll find plenty of like-minded people on these trips too!

Cheers,

- Pete

Shame I'm not nearby, Andrew, otherwise I'd be happy to oblige.

Hopefully you'll be able to find someone (or even several people) to help out. Keep logging in as this site is the best there is for shared information regarding our butterfly friends.

Spotted this Small White on my Budhlia bush yesterday afternoon, I'm amazed they are still around now the weather is starting to turn.
